VINCENTIANS

Held Quarterly Meeting of the Particular Council Last Sunday.

Various Conferences Report Relief Work Done in Last Three Months.

Earnest Address Delivered by the Very Rev. Father Deppen.

CENTENNIAL OF DIOCESE APPROACHES

The Particular Council of the St. Vincent de Paul Society held its regular quarterly meeting at St. Francis' Hall in the basement of the Cathedral last Sunday afternoon. Quite a large attendance was on hand. President James T. Campbell was in the chair and Secretary John A. Doyle read the reports and communications. After that reports were read from fifteen conferences of the society in this city, showing the relief given and work done during the quarter. Interesting reports were also made by the Jail and House of Refuge Committees. The reports showed that the respective conferences of St. Vincent de Paul were increasing in membership. Owing to the mildness of the weather and to the fact that there has been plenty of work during the quarter just closed the various committees reported that there had been a great decrease in the requests for assistance.

The Very Rev. Father Deppen was called upon and made an impromptu address that was well received by the Vincentians. He dwelt particularly on the love of the late Monsignor Bouchet for the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. He said it had ever been the object of his tenderest solicitude and begged the Vincentians to keep Father Bouchet's memory green in their souls.

Father Deppen reminded those present that five years hence the diocese of Louisville would celebrate its one hundredth anniversary or centennial jubilee. He urged the members of the society to begin now to make preparations for that great event, so that when the time rolled round the Catholics of this city would make a creditable showing.

This diocese was originally established at Bardstown on April 8, 1808. The first Bishop was the Right Rev. Benedict Joseph Flaget, D. D., who was consecrated on November 4, 1810. On August 15, 1819, the Right Rev. John B. David was made Coadjutor Bishop of the diocese. The Right Rev. Guy Ignatius Clisbaut was made Coadjutor Bishop on July 20, 1834. In 1841 the seat of the diocese was removed to Louisville. The Right Rev. Martin John Spalding was made Coadjutor Bishop, with the right of succession on September 10, 1848. On June 11, 1864, he was made Archbishop of Baltimore. He was succeeded by the Right Rev. Peter Joseph Lavalle, who was consecrated Bishop on September 24, 1865. The Right Rev. William George McCloskey, D. D., was consecrated Bishop of Louisville on May 24, 1868.

Father Deppen deplored the fact that Louisville had not been made an archdiocese long ago. He spoke of the greater scope for work in this event and hoped to see the time that this would be known as the archdiocese of Louisville.

Father Deppen's words were earnest and appealed to every member of the society.

ABLE AND FAIR.

Judge Sterling B. Toney is Just to All Creeds and Classes.

While we do not take part between candidates in elections, we always like to present fairly the qualities and merits of different candidates, so that each voter among our readers may be able to vote intelligently and to choose the candidate best fitted, in his judgment, for the place.

The fierce assaults made upon the Catholic church and Catholic people in this city and this country in late years and the unjust proceeding against the church and its property and its religious orders in France make all Catholics wish to know whether any man who is to sit on the bench is open-minded and fair or whether he is narrow and incapable of being just to those who differ from him in religion.

In our issue of Saturday, July 13, 1901, we called attention to the important, generous and learned opinion rendered by Judge Toney in the case of Coleman vs. O'Leary's executor, when he was not a candidate, and in that opinion he held that a Catholic in his will has the right to leave for masses any money he may wish to leave for that purpose. That right has been disputed in some States and was disputed in this case in this State. The Court of Appeals has since affirmed that opinion of Judge Toney, but he even went farther in that case and held that the bequest to the Bishop of a large sum of money to establish a home for poor old men of the Catholic faith was valid, and that a gift of a farm of 100 acres on the Louisville & Nashville railroad about nine miles from the city to the Jesuit order for education or charity was also a valid gift, and that $3,000 given to the Bishop of Cork for such charitable or religious purposes as he might deem best was valid. The Court of Appeals overruled Judge Toney as to the gift to the Jesuits and to the Bishop of Cork and held that those gifts were void, because too indefinite.

These decisions of Judge Toney show not only that he is a learned and able lawyer, but also that he had the open mind and the fairness to do justice to men of every church when their affairs come before him. That is a very important quality in a Judge, an indispensable requisite for a good Judge, but it is a quality which some Judges do not have. Such questions as were decided in the Spalding and Coleman cases are always coming up and Catholics are at a great disadvantage if the Judge is not a broad-minded man.

OUR HOLY FATHER

Has Surpassed the Days of St. Peter, the First Pope.

Surely God has blessed Our Holy Father, Leo XIII., in a wonderful way. This great Pontiff has reigned over the church longer than did St. Peter. On Monday he rounded out the twenty-five years two months and seven days, which time the first Pope reigned as head of the church. He was elected Pope on February 20, 1878. He then virtually became the head of the church, though he was not formally crowned until March 3 of the same year. Only one Pope has reigned longer and that was Pope Pius IX., of glorious memory.

There was great rejoicing not only in Rome on Wednesday, but throughout the civilized world, when it was known that the Pope had accomplished the days of Peter. He received numerous congratulations. There are many who believe he will live to be one hundred years old and thus surpass in length the reign of Pius IX.

WITH THANKS

Did Division 1 Accept Invitation to Attend New Albany Fair.

Division 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, met Tuesday night and transacted considerable business. Patrick Meehan received the obligation of membership. William Claire was reported off the sick list.

An invitation from Division 1 of New Albany to attend the Irish fair in that city on May 7 was accepted with thanks. As several other divisions have accepted a similar invitation, Division 1 decided to ask the County Board to employ a band to accompany the Hibernians to New Albany on the occasion of their visit. The members believe that it will cause the order to make a better showing and will probably cause many young men to join one of the divisions.

BISHOP OF BUFFALO

To Be Chosen by the Propaganda on Monday Next.

A cablegram from Rome announces that the congregation of the Propaganda will meet on Monday for the purpose of choosing a Bishop of Buffalo to succeed Archbishop Quigley, recently transferred to Chicago. Rumor has it that the chances lie between the Very Rev. Michael P. Connelly, Vicar General of the Diocese of Buffalo, and the Rev. Father Colton, rector of St. Stephen's church, New York City. Father Colton has a little the best chance, it is said.

BECOMES A BROTHER.

Joseph Chester Wunsch, son of Joseph Wunsch, Jr., the well known brush manufacturer, has entered the Brotherhood of the Holy Cross at Notre Dame, Ind. He was accompanied to Notre Dame by the Rev. Father O. P. Ackerman on Monday of last week. Young Mr. Wunsch was received as a postulant at once. Father Ackerman returned to Louisville on Wednesday. Any other young men who have the desire to join the Brotherhood of the Holy Cross can gain the necessary information by applying to Father Ackerman, rector of St. Philip Neri's church.

THE POST'S JUBILEE.

The Evening Post rounded out twenty-five years of service as a newspaper on Thursday. It started on small capital but thrived and grew and now the editor in chief talks of erecting a twenty-story building. Certainly no one has worked harder for success than Editor Richard W. Knott. No one has higher ideals of what is right than he. Besides he is a gentleman who strives to live up to his ideals. The Kentucky Irish American wishes the Evening Post and its editor many happy returns of the day.

FATHER WALSH IS IMPROVING.

The Rev. Father Patrick Walsh, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, has been ill at St. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital since Tuesday. He suffered from a severe attack of the grippe. He has improved considerably and may be able to resume his duties tomorrow.

GROWING.

The Knights of Columbus Are Rapidly Taking in New Members.

Council Instituted at Lexington by Louisville's Loyal Knights.

Newton G. Rogers Responded to a Toast at Evansville Banquet.

INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS DETAILED

Blue Grass Council, Knights of Columbus, was instituted at Lexington last Sunday afternoon. The new council began operations under the most favorable auspices. Of the sixty-two members initiated five were from Cincinnati, four from Louisville and one, Rev. Father Ryan, from Knoxville, Tenn.

The initiation was conducted by the Louisville and Cincinnati Councils, the former administering the first and third degrees and the Cincinnati the second degree. After the initiation the following officers of the new council were chosen:

Grand Knight—John M. Kelly. Deputy Grand Knight—James Rogers. Chancellor—John S. O'Shea. Recorder—James P. Tacker. Secretary—John B. Lyon. Treasurer—Frusk P. Kearney. Warden—William J. Norton. Inner Guard—C. J. Reagan. Outer Guard—O. M. Murphy. Trustees—Thomas J. Murray, E. T. Houlihan and J. E. Fitzgerald.

More than 200 members of the Louisville Council and almost as many more from the Cincinnati Council assisted at the initiatory ceremonies. Among those present from this city were District Deputy Charles J. O'Connor, Grand Knight Peter M. O'Reilly, Messrs. James J. Fitzgerald, Frank A. Geher, George Mulligan, John H. Coleman, Matt J. Winn, Fred A. Bauer, H. G. Richer, Judge Matt O'Doherty, Hon. E. J. McDermott and others.

After the initiatory exercises the Lexington Knights entertained their visiting brethren with a banquet at the Phoenix Hotel. John S. O'Shea was toastmaster. Toasts were responded to by Hon. E. J. McDermott, Judge Matt O'Doherty and Frank M. Tracy, of Newport.

On Sunday also Evansville Council, Knights of Columbus, initiated seventy-five new members. Evansville Council conferred the first degree, Washington Council the second and Daniel E. Reagan, District Deputy of the Fourth Indiana, assisted by a corps of assistants, conferred the third degree. Previous to the initiatory exercises the members of Evansville Council and visitors from various points in Indiana met and marched in a body to Trinity church, where they attended solemn high mass.

The initiatory exercises were held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. After the initiation the members, both new and old, marched to Evans' Hall, where an elaborate banquet was spread. The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion. After the menu had been discussed Newton G. Rogers, the well known attorney of this city, was called upon to respond to the toast, "Leo XIII."

Mr. Rogers in a masterly manner reviewed the career of Our Holy Father as head of the church. It is to be regretted that space will not permit his address to be given in full. Capt. C. J. Murphy responded to the toast, "The Catholic American Citizen." "Our order" was responded to by John G. Leahy, of St. Louis. William M. Madden, of Evansville Council, responded to the toast "Evansville." Mr. Madden made a great hit when in reference to Evansville as the largest hard wood market in the world he said:

"We are the leaders in the manufacture of cradles and baby carriages, also the crying need which makes them an absolute necessity."

LAFFEY'S LUCK

Has Been Promoted to a More Responsible Position.

Will J. Laffey, formerly of this city, has received another promotion. Less than two years ago Mr. Laffey was a patrolman walking a beat in this city. But he was made for better things. He was born and raised in the County of Galway, Ireland. He received a good education and was ambitious, steady and sober. When a vacancy occurred in the secret service of the Illinois Central Railroad at this point Will Laffey was recommended for the place. So well did he attend to the work assigned him that at the end of a year he was promoted and given charge of the secret work on five divisions of the Illinois Central, with headquarters at Memphis. A few months later he was made one of the chief clerks in the car accountant's office, and now he has been promoted to be assistant chief clerk to the General Superintendent.

The Kentucky Irish American several years ago predicted Mr. Laffey's rise in the railroad business. It is only a question of time till he will go still higher. His many friends here are pleased with his rapid promotion.

GREAT WORK

Is Being Accomplished by the Three Local Councils of the Y. M. I.

Trinity Held an Interesting Meeting on Last Monday Night.

Mackin's Dance and Satoll's Banquet Were Well Attended.

MANY NEW MEMBERS COMING IN

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., held a large and enthusiastic meeting last Monday night. Not only was a great deal of business transacted, but there was a lot of pleasure. President Tom Garvey was in the chair and every officer was present. President Garvey announced the death of George W. Limper. The council adopted appropriate resolutions of respect. The librarian was instructed to purchase a copy of the Rev. Ignatius Abmann's new book. Father Ahmann is Grand Chaplain of the order for the Kentucky jurisdiction and is a great favorite with Louisville members of the order.

The Visiting Committee reported that no member of the council was on the sick list. George Dues resigned as Marshal. His resignation was accepted with regret. The council accepted with pleasure an invitation to attend the wedding of Miss Alice Ellard and Edward J. Stosberg. Ben Shrader, an old-time member of Trinity Council, made his appearance after long absence and was given quite an ovation.

Quite a lengthy debate was caused by a resolution to increase the death benefit from $50 to $100. After an animated discussion the council declined by a large majority to grant the increase. Arthur Lauer was elected Marshal to succeed George Dues. Joe McGill was elected a member of the Executive Committee. Albert Rehm was appointed Collector.

Rev. Father Niessen and Rev. Father Leo Greulich, pastor of St. Anthony's church, were warmly greeted as they were escorted to their chairs by Messrs. Sullivan and Piazza. On being introduced Father Niessen made a brief address, in which among other things he spoke of the "Divine Drama," a lecture illustrated with stereopticon views. The following was appointed to confer with Mr. Ulrich, the owner of the "Divine Drama," with a view of having it given before the council: President Garvey, James B. Kelly and John J. Sullivan, Sr.

Rev. Father Leo Greulich was introduced and expressed his pleasure at being among those present. He said he was pleased with the Catholic, American and International spirit of the Young Men's Institute. He argued that quality rather than the quantity of members be looked into. He asked them to see that only genorous, good, charitable young men, men who are good Catholics, be received into the order. "Any other material," said Father Leo, "will prove detrimental to the order." His good advice was received with applause. Brief addresses were also made by Ben Shrader, the president of the Young Men's Institute.

He is a young man of strict integrity and would be an efficient officer.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER.

Birds of a feather will flock together. They may at times seem far apart, antagonistic in their aims, declarations and efforts, but they come together finally. This is being illustrated in what some insist on terming the "irrepressible conflict of capital and labor." Even in this kind eventually finds and mingles with kind. Agitation separates the gold and the dross, and concentrates each respectively. The years of contest, of mutual denunciation, contention, lockouts, strikes, aggression and resistance, more or less disastrous to both, has resulted in the uniting of the sensible, honorable and fair capitalists and laborers in the one party, and the obdurate, unjust and dishonorable capitalists and laborers (real or professed) in another. The lines are already becoming distinctly drawn, at least in the United States. The first have learned to respect the just rights of each other, to see that their interests are mutual, that injury to one injures both, that benefit to one benefits all, and on this basis, by conference, concession and arbitration, adjust differences without loss or disturbance of trade and peace, with the result that both are prospering as never before in the world's history. The second, following the old rule of antagonism, contention and hate, are united only on one point—opposition and condemnation of the first class.

Thus the leading industrial, transportation and commercial capitalists and legitimate labor unions are united in the Civic Federation and with the secret aid of England, defeated China in war, for which an indemnity was levied, China having no money, was forced to borrow. Instead of borrowing from England, as was intended, China accepted the offer of the loan from Russia, which borrowed the sum from France, giving cessions and control of Manchuria as collateral till the debt should be paid. Thus Russia and France acquired what England designed to acquire—control of Chinese territory—as the result of China's reverse in the war with Japan. Against the consummation of this deal England protested and threatened war, but to no avail.

Russia occupied Manchuria, suppressed revolutions and brigandage; took possession of seaports and harbors, fortifying and providing facilities for commerce; pushed her railroad extensions from her trans-Siberian railroad, erecting depots, barracks, building roads and bridges—and also massing troops in the province and war vessels in the harbors, with provisions and munitions of war, if needed, to maintain her right of possession.

In the meantime, troubles, with disastrous consequences and more indemnities to pay, have further impoverished China, and the Boer war and other adversities have rendered England less able to oppose Russian aggression in the East. Nations do not heed her protests, but prefer to treat direct with China and Russia, and China seems anxious to foster the friendship of other nations even against the wishes of England, regardless of results to English interests and privileges.

Privileges, especially English privileges, are no longer recognized, though England fails to realize that her sun has set. She will not be allowed to dictate the policy, enjoy the privileges, control the trade and mark off the map in the far East, as she had become accustomed to do till recently. She is powerless to induce or force other nations to permit it, and should her ally, Japan, be led to play the cat's paw, Japan will be squelched. England demands privileges; all other nations ask only equal and fair terms for the trade of Asia and guarantee of equal rights to all. China is willing to grant this, and Russia to allow it.

Russia has the army, France the money, and both large fleets; England and Japan have the largest fleet, but neither have the money. Other nations will not interfere unless necessary to protect their rights and interests. The inevitable result is too plain. There will be no war in the Far East. Russia and France, with the consent of China, will do just about as they please in Manchuria. The British lion may growl, Japan may bark—no one seems to care if they do. England is already a second-class power, and will have to stay in her class.

A FLASH IN THE PAN.

England is again trying to alarm the world against Russian aggression and its menace to trade interests of all nations. The English press clamor for earnest protest and naval demonstrations to protect British privileges in the East by urging China to refuse the Russian proposition which gives more control over Manchuria to the exclusion of other nations. Somehow England's warning does not seem to be heeded, nor her threats feared as heretofore, except by her ally Japan. Indeed she was not consulted, nor is she considered by Russia, France and China, the parties to the Manchurian issue. Other governments do not seem to believe their interests threatened, whatever danger may befall British interests and privileges. Each of them, Germany included, seems content to look out for itself.

When Japan, at the instigation and with the secret aid of England, defeated China in war, for which an indemnity was levied, China having no money, was forced to borrow. Instead of borrowing from England, as was intended, China accepted the offer of the loan from Russia, which borrowed the sum from France, giving cessions and control of Manchuria as collateral till the debt should be paid. Thus Russia and France acquired what England designed to acquire—control of Chinese territory—as the result of China's reverse in the war with Japan. Against the consummation of this deal England protested and threatened war, but to no avail.

Russia occupied Manchuria, suppressed revolutions and brigandage; took possession of seaports and harbors, fortifying and providing facilities for commerce; pushed her railroad extensions from her trans-Siberian railroad, erecting depots, barracks, building roads and bridges—and also massing troops in the province and war vessels in the harbors, with provisions and munitions of war, if needed, to maintain her right of possession.

The Kentucky Irish American has been generally commended for its article on Louisville's public and private parks. It is all right for the people who can afford country homes in the summer to cry out against the parks, because these people do not need them. Fresh pure air and sunshine is one of man's inalienable rights, and where else can the poor man, the tired wife and mother, and the sick children get that fresh air, save in the parks? The parks are the country homes of the poor, and the poor certainly have a right to pursue happiness in their own way.

The people know what they want in the way of entertainment, and it does not take the owners of the parks long to give people what they want when that want becomes known to them. The owners of private parks will continue to do this year as they have in the past, that is to furnish whole in the freshments, good music and features of novel yet clean and entertaining character. If the weather is fit most of them will be open tomorrow. The proprietors of these parks need to be encouraged by the patronage of the people. Give them this encouragement and there will be no quarrel about the character of the people who attend. The vicious classes will not care to mix with the best people.

HAPPY UNION.

Edward J. Stosberg and Miss Alice Ellard were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Cathedral of the Assumption at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Father Rock performed the marriage ceremony and spoke feelingly to the contracting parties of the dignity of marriage and the duties of the married state. The attendants were Messrs. Ed Routhier and Jacob Hiff. The Cathedral was crowded with friends of the happy couple. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Stosberg were tendered a reception at the home of Mrs. Ellard, the bride's mother, at 330 Preston street. The many friends of the happy mated couple called and wished them happiness on their journey through life. The wedding presents were numerous and hand-made.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The second reading of the Irish land bill in the House of Commons will not take place before next Wednesday.

The King has definitely expressed his willingness to open the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast, during his forthcoming visit to Ireland.

At the last meeting of the Carrick District Council at Waterford tenders were received for the erection of eight cottages under the laborers' act.

In the semi-final Rugby football match for the Munster cup played at Limerick between Garryowen and Rockwell the former were victorious by one penalty goal to nil.

It would be difficult to express any opinion at present as to what may be the recommendation of the Commissioners, but certainly it looks as if matters were brightening up for the erection of a new bridge over the Suir at Waterford.

The Dublin public health department now appear confident that they have got complete control of the smallpox outbreak, and are strongly of the opinion that it is only a matter of a short period until they will have completely stamped out the disease.

Coroner Alfred Blake held an inquest at the Cork municipal buildings on the body of young James Sullivan, Lower Road, who was found drowned in the River Lee, near the Harbor Commissioners' yard. A verdict of death from drowning was returned.

According to a return issued by the Board of Trade the number of Irish emigrants last month was 1,859, as against 1,925 in March, 1902. The total number for the first quarter of the present year was 3,220, as compared with 3,057 during the corresponding period last year.

Katherine Roche, grocer of Cloyne, was recently adjudicated a bankrupt in the Cork Bankruptcy Court. When the messenger went to execute the warrant she could not be found, having left for England. She was arrested in London and returned to Cork, where she has been confined in the city jail.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant in the exercise of the prerogative of mercy has commuted the sentence of death upon Andrew Moore, a prisoner in Cork jail, into one of penal servitude for life. Moore was convicted at the recent Cork assizes of the murder of the Rev. Bell, rector of Kilmeen parish.

GREAT BOXING CONTEST.

The twenty round boxing contest between Benny Yauger and Kid Broad will take place at the Auditorium tonight under the auspices of Col. R. E. Gray's Southern Athletic Club. The public is greatly interested in this bout. Dave Sullivan has announced that he wants a go with the winner of tonight's contest.

George Gardner and Marvin Hart will box twenty rounds under the auspices of the same club on the night of May 13. Gardner will act as one of Yauger's seconds, while Hart will officiate in the same capacity for Broad.

has so long been pining for. The statesmanlike effort to settle the land question has been followed immediately by an admirable scheme to further the great movement toward industrial development.

The Duke of Connaught, writing to John McKenna, Secretary of the Ulster Rifle Association, relative to the arrangements made for the forthcoming visit of the American rifle teams to Ireland, says he is sure they will meet with a reception in no way inferior to that given to our representatives in Canada. His Royal Highness adds that he will do all in his power to further the cordiality of their reception and be pleased to meet them in Dublin.

A shocking fatality occurred at Tralee station, on the Great Southern line. John Collins, who was employed coaling the engines at Tralee, was crossing the line from the goods side to the passenger platform, when he was knocked down by an engine which was hacking slowly into the station and killed almost instantaneously. The left arm was nearly severed from the body and the skull was badly fractured. Deceased was about fifty-five and leaves a widow and three children. He was a native of Headford.

A very sad burning fatality occurred in Armagh in Lower English street, whereby Mary Ellen McGuiness, aged four years, daughter of Edward McGuiness, commercial traveler, was accidentally burned to death. The child was put to bed by a servant, who was going to bed herself, found smoke coming from the nursery, which prevented her getting to the cot where the child was. She immediately alarmed the father, who at once rushed to the room and was horrified to find that the child was dead. It is thought that the child was playing with matches and accidentally set the bed clothes on fire. The jury found a verdict of accidental death.

A private soldier belonging to the Royal Munster Fusiliers named Riordan met with a serious accident at the King's military barracks. While in his sleep and unknown to the other soldiers occupying the same department he got up in the night and began to walk around the room, and whether the window of the room happened to be raised up at the time or that he raised it during his sleep is unknown, but unfortunately through some unaccountable means he fell out through the window onto the ground underneath and sustained very serious injuries to several parts of his body, his back, shoulders and arms being, it is reported, severely dislocated. He was taken up and examined by the local doctors and now lies in a precarious condition.

Exactly this month two years ago the people of Bawn, near Nenagh, were on several occasions thrown into a state of panic by a series of loud and prolonged wails, as if emanating from the bowels of the earth. On Saturday night the unearthly sounds were again heard by several people in the neighborhood. The noise begins at the boundary of the townland of Bawn and is repeated every quarter of an hour, and dies away at a great distance from where it is first heard. Some of the neighbors received a great shock on hearing the weird noise, and it is the opinion of many that it is the wail of a banshee. Two years ago, as stated, the place was visited by a force of police, accompanied by a large crowd of people from Nenagh to hear the cries and inquire into the matter, and all were astonished at the unearthly shrieks.

An inquest held at Blanchardstown by Coroner Friery into the cause of death of laborer named Patrick Dolan, aged forty-five years, who died as a result of an explosion of dynamite which he was using in blasting stumps of trees that had been blown down in the district during the recent storm. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Dolan leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his loss, and much sympathy is felt for them in the district. Deceased and John Brophy were employed by Col. McCartney Filgate, at Hillsbrook, Castleknock. Brophy brought the dynamite with him in the morning, but forgot to bring percussion caps to explode it. He went for the caps and asked Dolan to soften the dynamite. While Dolan was doing this the dynamite must have exploded and killed him. The saucepan in which the dynamite was being softened was blown to atoms and some of the metal embedded in a tree. A big charge of it went through Dolan's heart, and Dr. Cullen said that death must have been instantaneous.

FATHER HILL COMES HOME.

Rev. John T. Hill has been appointed assistant pastor at the Cathedral. Father Hill was born and raised in St. John's parish. Since his ordination several years ago he has been on rural missions. His friends are glad to hear that he has been transferred to the city.

GREAT BOXING CONTEST.

The twenty round boxing contest between Benny Yauger and Kid Broad will take place at the Auditorium tonight under the auspices of Col. R. E. Gray's Southern Athletic Club. The public is greatly interested in this bout. Dave Sullivan has announced that he wants a go with the winner of tonight's contest.

George Gardner and Marvin Hart will box twenty rounds under the auspices of the same club on the night of May 13. Gardner will act as one of Yauger's seconds, while Hart will officiate in the same capacity for Broad.

BUCKINGHAM.

The Utopians, a favorite big burlesque show, will be the next attraction at the Buckingham Theater. "The Magic Hat," a new and entertaining burlesque, will be given as a curtain raiser. "Razzle Dazzle," another burlesque, with handsome costumes and sparkling music, will close the entertainment. In between the following vaudeville acts will be given: The Joselin trio, premier acrobats; Joe Maden and John W. Jess, comedians; Tom Ripley, monologues and singing; Mark and Kitty Hart in a novel comedy sketch; Charles E. Foreman, lyric tenor; Marie Spain, comic-to-date songs. The Lavelles in eccentric dances; Charles E. Foreman, comic-to-date songs. The Lavelles in eccentric dances; Charles E. Foreman, comic-to-date songs.

VERY CHARACTERISTIC POSTSCRIPT

Below we give a copy of a letter written by Sir John Boyle Roach during the troublous times of Ireland in 1798. Sir Boyle Roach has an international reputation in history as the father of "Irish Bulls." This letter is a fair sample of his manner of writing and speaking. If there was any chance to get in the wrong idea at the right time or the right phrase in the wrong place, Sir Boyle Roach was sure to take advantage of it. The following letter, characteristic of Sir Boyle, is in the possession of Michael Gleeson, of this city:

"MY DEAR SIR: Having now a little peace and quietness I sit down to inform you of the dreadful bustle and confusion we are all in from the bloodthirsty rebels, most of whom are, thank God, killed and dispersed. We are in a pretty mess, can get nothing to eat, nor any wine to drink except whisky; and when we sit down to dinner we are obliged to keep both hands armed. While I write this, I hold a sword in each hand and a pistol in the other. I concluded from the beginning that this would be the end of it, and I see it was right, for it is not half over yet. At present there are so many going on that everything is at a stand still.

"I should have answered your letter a fortnight ago, but I did not receive it until this morning. Indeed scarce a mail arrives without being robbed. No longer ago than yesterday the coach with the mail from Dublin was robbed near this town. The bags had been judiciously left behind, for fear of accident, and by good luck there was nothing in it but two outside passengers who had nothing for the thieves to take except their purses and watches.

"Last Thursday notice was given that a gang of rebels was advancing here under French standard, but they had no colors or any drums except bag-pipes. Immediately every man in this place, including men, women and children, ran out

DOMINICANS

Will Erect Handsome Monastery at the National Capital.

The Design Will Be Pure Gothic and the Cost About $225,000.

House of Studies Will Be Removed From St. Joseph's, Ohio.

HOME PEOPLE INTERESTED

The Dominican Fathers of this province are preparing to erect the largest Gothic monastery in America. It will be known as the Dominican House of Studies and will be located in Washington, in the immediate neighborhood of the Catholic University. The estimated cost is not less than $225,000. From those who have seen the plans it is learned that the Dominican House of Studies will be the most beautiful cluster of buildings in that section of the national capital. The architecture will be of Gothic style. Cloisters, quadrangles, chapter rooms and all other features of monastic structures will be included in this big monastery. It will have a frontage of 185x220 feet in depth. One entire side will be taken up by a church, also built in Gothic style. Indiana graystone will be the principal building material, which while it is useful is also enduring.

This great monastery will have a triple interest for Louisville Catholics. In the first place it will be intimately connected with, though not a part of, the great Catholic University; secondly, the Dominicans have endeared themselves to Louisville Catholics, and particularly to Irish-Americans, by their hard and zealous work here during the last forty years; in the third place the work of erecting the buildings will be done under the personal supervision of the Rev. Richard J. Meany, O. P., a Dominican born and raised in Louisville.

The building will be pushed to completion, and it is desired to have it under roof and ready for occupancy by Easter Sunday next year, but the community will not move into it until the September following. All the students and professors of the Dominican House of Studies now in St. Joseph's, Ohio, will be transferred to the new house. St. Joseph's has become too small for the growing needs of the Dominicans. Moreover the Dominicans of this province will soon have to furnish their quota to do missionary work in the Philippines.

The professors filling the various chairs of study in the new Dominican House of Studies are all men who have taken degrees in the celebrated European universities of the order. At their head will be the Very Rev. D. J. Kenney, Regent, who is well known as an excellent theologian. Among other instructors will be found Dominicans who are specialists in canon law, church history, etc.

The final determination to erect the House of Studies at Washington, D. C., is largely due to the zeal and enthusiasm of the Provincial, the Very Rev. Father L. F. Kearney, O. P.

FATHER HART ILL.

The Rev. Father Edward J. Hart, of Chicago, Ky., is seriously ill at St. Joseph's Infirmary. His many friends hope to hear of his speedy recovery.

SEND IN YOUR BOOKS.

The lot to be raffled off by the St. Louis Charity Club will be disposed of on the evening of May 20. The sale of tickets is progressing nicely and the members of the club are much gratified. Persons who hold books of chances are requested to make their returns at once, so that no books will remain out on the day of the raffle.

IRISH PAIR.

Tim Hurst, that energetic and versatile Irish-American, had his Irish fair in St. Louis last week. It was held in the big Coliseum building and attracted large crowds. Blarney Castle, the peasant's cabin, the map of Ireland laid out in turf, the piper, the donkey and all were on hand just as they were here last autumn. Of course the fair in St. Louis was given on a larger and more elaborate scale than in Louisville.
